THE AIM

This paper will not be the champion of any "ism."

All rebel women are invited to contributions with a swordheart or through the desire for a swordheart or something impelling within themselves, the nature of law." It is not aim to show an responsibility. The same uncertainty in these situations is experienced by girls in marriage in as great a proportion as in the unmarried. After the first experience the life of a girl varies. All these girls do not necessarily go into prostitution. They have had an experience which has not "ruined" them, but rather given them a larger vision of life, stronger feelings and a broader understanding of human nature. The adolescent girl does not undress herself. She is full of contradictions, whims, emotions. For her emotional nature longs for certainty, to touch, to kiss. She is often as well inclined to hold hands or to go arm in arm with a girl as to the companionship of a boy.

It is these and kindred facts upon which the WOMAN REBEL will dwell from time to time and from which it is hoped the young girl will derive some knowledge of her nature, and conduct her life upon such knowledge.

It will also be the aim of the WOMAN REBEL to advocate the prevention of conception and to impart such knowledge in the columns of this paper.

Other subjects, including the slavery through modernized, through things, the home, public opinion and so forth, will be dealt with.

It is also the aim of this paper to circulate among these women who work

*Grandpa, tell me 'bout the good old days
Sometimes it feels like this world's gone crazy...
Did lovers really fall in love to stay.
And stand beside each other, come what may?...
Did families really bow their heads to pray?
Did daddies really never go away?
Oh, grandpa, tell me 'bout the good old days
Grandpa, everything is changing fast...*
